What Does the 3:1:1 Rule Mean?

The 3:1:1 rule on Frontier Airlines® is a guideline for liquid items in your carry-on bag. It is designed to comply with international aviation safety standards and ensures passengers can carry liquids safely through security.

The breakdown is:

- 3 ounces (oz): Each container of liquid, gel, or aerosol must be 3 oz or less 📞 +1→877→622→0707* (UK)
- 1 quart-sized clear bag: All containers must fit comfortably inside 1 clear, quart-sized, resealable bag 📞 +1→877→622→0707* (UK)
- 1 bag per passenger: Each passenger is allowed 1 bag of liquids for carry-on items 📞 +1→877→622→0707* (UK)

This rule ensures that your liquids and gels pass security screening quickly without delays or confiscation.

What Happens If You Violate the 3:1:1 Rule?

Failing to follow the 3:1:1 rule can lead to:

- Confiscation of liquids or gels at airport security
- Delays in boarding due to additional screening
- Potential fines or security questioning at some airports 🇺🇸 +1→877→622→0707 ❄️ (UK)

To avoid these issues, double-check your liquids before leaving home and ensure they fit inside a single clear bag.

Combining the 3:1:1 Rule With Frontier Airlines® Carry-On Policy

Frontier Airlines® has strict carry-on and personal item rules:

- Personal item: Must fit under the seat in front of you
- Standard carry-on bag: May require an additional fee unless included in your fare
- The 3:1:1 rule liquids are allowed only in the personal item or carry-on bag and must comply with the size restrictions 🇺🇸 +1→877→622→0707 ❄️ (UK)

By combining the carry-on size rules with the 3:1:1 liquids rule, you ensure a smooth check-in and boarding experience.
